ACTIVATE - Graduate Program

 Canberra ACT

Put your skills to work in a whole new way with ACTIVATE - ASIS's Graduate Program.

Offering a rare chance to work within the Australian Secret Intelligence Service, ACTIVATE gives graduates on-the-job experience and training in one of the most unique, dynamic and fast-paced workplaces in Australia.

Over the course of a 12-month program, you'll learn how intelligence is gathered, reported and actioned. Unlike other graduate programs, you won't just be observing - regardless of which discipline you've studied, you'll be using your skills to help support actual intelligence gathering operations that advance Australia's national interest.

The key duties of the position include:

Over the course of a 12-month program, you'll learn how intelligence is gathered, reported and actioned. Unlike other graduate programs, you won't just be observing - regardless of which discipline you've studied, you'll be using your skills to help support actual intelligence gathering operations that advance Australia's national interest.

Should you be accepted into ACTIVATE, you'll have endless opportunities to apply the skills you have gained throughout your studies in ways you may have never thought possible. Graduate roles require the application of critical thinking, research, analysis and project planning – just to name a few. Rotating through a variety of areas within the Service as part of the program provides our graduates with the foundation to understand our organisation and the challenges of sustaining a complex and unique geographically dispersed workforce. It suits applicants from a wide-range of disciplines who are curious or who have a genuine interest in intelligence work.

After successfully completing the program, you could be placed into a variety of roles depending on your skillset and the priority needs of the Service. You may end up working in Corporate, Technical or Intelligence Support.

Eligibility

Your participation in the ACTIVATE Graduate Program will be based on the following:

Citizenship - To be eligible for employment with ASIS, you must be an Australian citizen.

Security Assessment - The successful applicant will be required to undergo and maintain a high-level security clearance. Ongoing employment with ASIS requires the successful candidates to maintain a high-level security clearance. Loss of a security clearance at any time will lead to termination of employment.

Qualifications: The Program is open to Undergraduate and Postgraduate university students in their final year of study in 2021 or students who have graduated in 2020 or 2019.

Notes

The positions are Canberra based, with conditions of service similar to those in the Australian Public Service, including superannuation.

Please Note: ASIS does not provide feedback to unsuccessful applicants.
